

About Debbie

Deb commenced with Studer Group Australasia in 2008 and is a highly valued member of the team. As Studer Group's Partner Relations Manager- Deb's role is varied and she performs many important functions that ensure we can successfully deliver services to our partners and clients. Some of the main functions of Deb's role includes; primary contact and support for Partner organisations, development and support to the coaching team in an administrative role; management of travel , Executive Assistant to the Managing Director and Coach Leader, management of conferences, workshops, institutes and USA study tours, oversight and assistance with marketing material, website, social media and branding.

Deb has invested in a number of Diploma's which have supported her to grow and develop her skills set in order to be a more valuable asset to the organisation and customers we support.

What Deb most enjoys about her role is being able to work with people who motivate her, job variety, flexibility and the privilege to work with an organisation who believe family is important.

Deb's goal is to be the best support to our team to enable them to be the best at what they do – mentoring our partners to make a difference in healthcare. Her aim is to try and be a better person today than what she was yesterday.

Professional Experience

Debbie has over 30 years' experience in administration, having worked with Studer Group for over 12 years.

Education and Certifications

- Diploma of Project Management
- Diploma of Event Management