

Building the culture you need -

Creating great places to work

Virtual Workshop

As leaders we own the culture of our organisation! Do you have a culture where your employees feel safe to speak up, ask questions, and share new ideas? Do your staff feel encouraged to learn, grow and innovate?

Delivering high-quality, safe healthcare requires a strong, positive, and safe culture aligned with our organisation's priorities and values. With the current challenges we face in healthcare, there has never been a more important time to focus on building the culture you need.

This practical, virtual workshop will support you as a leader to:

- Understand key elements of culture and their impact on the organisation
- Implement strategies and practical tools to create a psychologically safe culture
- Understand safety culture and the impact of human factors
- Foster a culture of performance and innovation
